ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Message from the Resident Pastor J. & Deacon L. Masilela

We warmly welcome our young people, parents, educators, professionals, entrepreneurs, community leaders, and all our guests who have taken time to be part of this important occasion. We are grateful for your presence, and we believe that today is not just another event, but a divine opportunity to inspire, equip, and empower the next generation.

Today we gather with a clear purpose: to help our young people discover who they are, understand their God-given potential, and gain wisdom and direction as they prepare for their future. Every young person here today must understand that your life has purpose. You are not an accident. You are not defined by your circumstances, your background, your challenges, or your past mistakes. God has placed gifts, talents, abilities, and potential inside you, and part of your journey is discovering how to use those gifts for His glory and for the benefit of others.

However, purpose requires preparation. Dreams require discipline. Potential requires development. A career is not only about earning an income; it is also about identifying how God wants to use your skills, knowledge, and abilities to make an impact in the world. Whether you become a doctor, engineer, teacher, entrepreneur, pastor, farmer, scientist, artist, or professional in any field, excellence and integrity must become part of your character.

Today, we encourage our young people:

- Dream big, but also prepare diligently.
- Seek knowledge and develop your skills.
- Surround yourself with mentors and people who can guide you.
- Do not allow fear, failure, or limitations to stop you.
- Keep God at the centre of your decisions and your future.

WE also want to encourage parents, guardians, and leaders: our young people need our support, guidance, encouragement, and prayers. We have a responsibility to create environments where they can discover their gifts and thrive.

To all our professionals and speakers who will share their knowledge and experiences today, thank you for investing in the future generation. Your journey, your wisdom, and your advice may become the spark that changes .

INSTITUTION OPTIONS:

Before applying to a college or private higher education institution, it is essential to confirm that both the institution and the qualification are appropriately registered and accredited. This will help ensure that your qualification is recognised in South Africa and prevent you from investing time and money in a programme that may not be valid. Registered qualifications are listed on the South African Qualifications Authority (SAQA) National Qualifications Framework (NQF), while private higher education institutions must also be registered with the Department of Higher Education and Training (DHET).

Below is a list of well-known TVET colleges and private higher education institutions whose qualifications are registered and recognised.

Important: Registration and accreditation do not automatically guarantee eligibility for professional registration. If you plan to pursue a regulated profession (such as Engineering, Accounting, Medicine, or Health Sciences), you should also verify that the qualification is accredited or recognised by the relevant professional body (e.g. ECSA, SAICA, HPCSA, or other applicable councils). Some qualifications may be nationally recognised but may not meet the academic requirements for professional registration.

Link below lists the various private colleges recognised by DHET:

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As we come to the end of this incredible Career Day, I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to everyone who made today possible. This event was never just about careers, but inspiring purpose, equipping young people with knowledge and reminding us that our faith and our work should never be separated. As HOPE to YOU Community Church, our desire is to raise men and women who not only excel in their spiritual lives but reflect the values of Christ in the workplace industry and community they serve. We believe that when people of faith, integrity, humility, love and excellence occupy different sectors of society, they become instruments of positive change and hope.

Firstly, I would like to thank our church leadership for believing in this vision and for their unwavering support. Your encouragement has allowed this initiative to become a reality. Secondly, I would like to express my deepest appreciation to the organising team who worked tirelessly behind the scenes. Your commitment, countless hours of planning, and willingness to serve have made today a great success.

A special word of thanks goes to Thato Molomo, thank you for your vision and exceptional execution. Your professionalism and passion brought this event to life, and we are truly grateful for everything you contributed.

To Awande, our brand strategist. Thank you for leading the marketing and connecting us with the incredible professionals who shared their knowledge with us today. Your dedication played a significant role in the success of this event.

To all our volunteers, sponsors, partners, and everyone whose name may not have been mentioned, please know that your contribution has not gone unnoticed. Whether you gave your time, resources, skills, or support, you helped make today a meaningful and impactful experience. Thank you for serving so willingly.

To our amazing speakers, mentors, and panellists, thank you for investing in the next generation. Your willingness to share your journeys, your successes, your failures, and your wisdom has inspired many young people today. It is refreshing to see professionals who are committed not only to excellence in their careers but also cherish the word of God. You have reminded us that we should never become complacent in our workplaces. Instead, we should continuously pursue excellence, lead with integrity, and reflect Christ in everything we do. Imagine the impact we could make if each one of us entered our respective industries carrying our Christian values with confidence and conviction. Our workplaces, our communities, and ultimately our nation would be transformed.

Finally, to every attendee, thank you for choosing to spend your day with us. We hope you leave encouraged, informed, and inspired to pursue your purpose with excellence. I would like to leave you with the words found in Colossians 3:23–24 (NIV):

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for human masters, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord as a reward. It is the Lord Christ you are serving."

May this Scripture be a reminder that whatever career you choose, whatever position you hold, and whatever opportunities come your way, do everything wholeheartedly as an act of worship unto God. May God bless you all and we look forward to hearing more success stories from you. And remember #Let'sMakeEducationFashionable

Yours sincerely,
Ndumiso Mahlangu
